DISTRICT OF NEVADA

John Laszloffy,

Case No. 2:19-cv-01173-JAD-BNW

Plaintiff,

ORDER

V.

Cindy Zoraida Garcia, et al.,

Defendants.

Plaintiff John Laszloffy, who is proceeding pro se and in forma pauperis, initiated this suit on July 5, 2019. ECF No. 1. The Court screened his First and Second Amended Complaints and dismissed them with leave to amend. ECF Nos. 27, 31.

13 Presently before the Court is Mr. Laszloffy's timely filed Third Amended Complaint 14 (ECF No. 32), which it will now screen.

I. Allegations in the Third Amended Complaint

On May 15, 2018, Plaintiff was involved in a car accident with Defendant Cindy Zoraida Garcia—a taxi driver—while she was driving with a passenger in her taxicab. He alleges that while exchanging insurance information after the collision, he observed only minor damage to the vehicles. According to Plaintiff, Garcia and her passenger indicated that they were not injured. When a representative from the taxi company (ANLV Cab) arrived to survey the scene, Garcia told the representative that she could continue transporting her passenger and would not need a replacement driver.

23 The day following the accident, Plaintiff's insurance company informed him that Garcia
24 had retained an attorney (Leon Symanski) and filed a personal injury claim. Because Plaintiff
25 believed the incident was simply a minor traffic accident, he expressed concern to the insurance 26 agent, who assured him the claim would be properly investigated. Plaintiff believes it was 27 impossible for Garcia to be injured given the nature of the collision.

1           Sometime in December 2018, Plaintiff's insurance company paid off Garcia's claim and 2 informed him that he would be placed in a "high-risk group." As a result, he claims that his
3 insurance premiums doubled and no other company would insure him at his initial rate. Plaintiff
4 believes that the insurance company did not pay Garcia's claim because it was legitimate, but 5 rather because her claim amounted to a "nuisance value," or a claim that is easier to pay for than 6 "hav[ing] to deal with the nuisance of a claim that will not go away."

7           On January 31, 2019, Plaintiff—believing that Garcia had filed a fraudulent claim—sent 8 her a letter providing "a chance to redeem herself with a settlement offer," and warning that he 9 had "no other choice but to sue" should she not accept.

10          On February 11, 2019, Plaintiff received a cease-and-desist notice from Garcia's attorney,
11 Leon Symanski, asking him to refrain from further communication with Garcia and threatened 12 legal action should he continue.

13          Mr. Symanski also contacted Plaintiff's insurance company (Mercury Insurance) to 14 inform it that Plaintiff had tried to extort his client, Garcia, as a result of the lawsuit she filed and 15 that it may be subject to litigation should Plaintiff's conduct continue.

16          Plaintiff brings the following causes of action against the following Defendants:

- 17         1. Fraud: against Garcia, Symanski, and ANLV Cab
- 18         2. Civil Conspiracy: against Symanski and Mercury
- 19         3. Defamation: against Symanski and Mercury
- 20         4. Libel: against Symanski and Mercury
- 21         5. Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress: against Garcia, Symanksi, and Mercury
- 22         6. Breach of Fiduciary Duty: against Mercury
- 23         7. Negligence: against Mercury
- 24         8. Concert of Action: against Garcia, Symanski, and ANLV Cab
- 25         9. Aiding and Abetting a Fraud: against Garcia, Symanksi, and Mercury
- 26         10. Breach of Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing: against Mercury
- 27         11. Concert of Action: against Garcia, Symanski, and ANLV Cab
- 28         12. Specific Performance: against Mercury

1       13. Negligence: against Mercury

2       14. Breach of Contract: against Mercury

3       II. Analysis

4           A. Screening Standard

5       Because Plaintiff is proceeding in forma pauperis, the Court must screen his complaint
6 under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2).

7       In screening the complaint, a court must identify cognizable claims and dismiss claims 8 that are frivolous, malicious, fail to state a claim on which relief may be granted, or seek 9 monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2).
10 Dismissal for failure to state a claim under § 1915(e)(2) incorporates the standard for failure to 11 state a claim under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). Watison v. Carter, 668 F.3d 1108, 12 1112 (9th Cir. 2012).

13       To survive § 1915 review, a complaint must “contain sufficient factual matter, accepted as 14 true, to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678
15 (2009) (citation omitted). The court liberally construes pro se complaints and may only dismiss 16 them “if it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim
17 which would entitle him to relief.” Nordstrom v. Ryan, 762 F.3d 903, 908 (9th Cir. 2014)
18 (quoting Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678).

19       In considering whether the complaint is sufficient to state a claim, all allegations of 20 material fact are taken as true and construed in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. Wyler
21 Summit P’ship v. Turner Broad. Sys. Inc., 135 F.3d 658, 661 (9th Cir. 1998) (citation omitted).
22 Although the standard under Rule 12(b)(6) does not require detailed factual allegations, a plaintiff
23 must provide more than mere labels and conclusions. Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S.
24 544, 555 (2007). A formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action is insufficient. Id.
25 But, unless it is clear that the complaint’s deficiencies could not be cured through amendment, a 26 pro se plaintiff should be given leave to amend the complaint with notice regarding the 27 complaint’s deficiencies. Cato v. United States, 70 F.3d 1103, 1106 (9th Cir. 1995).

28       //

1                   B. Screening the Complaint

2                   As explained in the previous screening order at ECF No. 31, federal courts are courts of 3 limited jurisdiction. Gunn v. Minton, 568 U.S. 251, 256 (2013). As a result, they have an 4 “independent obligation to determine whether subject-matter jurisdiction exists, even when no
 5 party challenges it.” Hertz Corp. v. Friend, 559 U.S. 77, 94 (2010) (citations omitted).

6                   Plaintiff asserts the court has jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332. In turn, 28 U.S.C.
 7 § 1332 requires that each of the plaintiffs be a citizen of a different state than each of the 8 defendants. See Kanter v. Warner-Lambert Co., 265 F.3d 853, 857 (9th Cir. 2001). If the court
 9 lacks subject-matter jurisdiction, an action must be dismissed. Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3).

10                  “The natural person’s state citizenship is then determined by h[is] state of domicile, not 11 h[is] state of residence.” Id. “A person’s domicile is h[is] permanent home, where [h]e resides
 12 with the intention to remain or to which [h]e intends to return.” Id. (citation omitted). “A person 13 residing in a given state is not necessarily domiciled there, and thus is not necessarily a citizen of 14 that state.” Id.

15                  A corporation is a citizen of “(1) the state where its principal place of business is located,
 16 and (2) the state in which it is incorporated.” Johnson v. Columbia Props. Anchorage, LP, 437
 17 F.3d 894, 899 (9th Cir. 2006) (citing 28 U.S.C. § 1332(c)(1)) (emphasis added). The citizenship 18 of an LLC is the citizenship of its members. Id. (“[L]ike a partnership, an LLC is a citizen of 19 every state of which its owners/members are citizens.”).

20                  Here, complete diversity is lacking. That is, Plaintiff and Mercury Insurance are both 21 citizens of California. As a result, this Court does not have jurisdiction over this matter.

22                  Plaintiff may choose to amend the complaint by dropping Mercury as a defendant. Should 23 he do that, then there would be full diversity between Plaintiff (who is a citizen of California) and 24 Defendants Garcia, Symanski, and ANLC Cab LLC (who are all citizens of Nevada).

25                  In order to expedite matters, this Court will screen the claims that could be brought 26 against the Defendants over which this Court has jurisdiction: Garcia, Symanski, and ANLV Cab.

27                  //

28                  //

1                   1. Claim 1: Fraud

2                 This claim alleges that defendants Garcia, Symanksi, and ANLV Cab deceived Mercury
 3 Insurance when they claimed that Garcia was injured. He cites different examples which,
 4 according to him, provide evidence that the injury claim was fraudulent.

5                 These are the elements for Fraud under Nevada law: (1) a false representation by 6 defendant; (2) defendant's knowledge or belief that the representation is false (or knowledge that 7 there is an insufficient basis for making the representation); (3) defendant's intention to induce
 8 the plaintiff to act or to refrain from acting in reliance upon the misrepresentation; (4) Plaintiff's 9 justifiable reliance upon the misrepresentation; and (5) damage to the plaintiff resulting from such 10 reliance. Nevada Power Co. v. Monsanto Co., 891 F. Supp. 1406, 1413 (D. Nev. 1995) (citation 11 omitted).

12               Here, Plaintiff has not plausibly alleged a claim for fraud. Plaintiff has plausibly alleged 13 the first element because he claims that Garcia falsely represented that she was injured in the 14 accident. Liberally construing the complaint, Plaintiff seemingly alleges Defendants Symanksi
 15 and ANLV Cab knew Garcia's claim was false and still represented that information to Mercury.

16               Further, Plaintiff alleges that there was no factual basis for Garcia to claim injury from the 17 accident. Again, liberally construing the complaint, the allegation appears to be that Defendants 18 Symanksi and ANLV Cab knew the claim was fraudulent and still proceeded with the claim.
 19 Therefore, the second element is also met.

20               However, Plaintiff fails to plausibly allege the third element because he did not allege that 21 Garcia, Symanksi or ANLV Cab intended to induce Plaintiff to do—or refrain from doing—
 22 something. Instead, according to Plaintiff, Defendants intended to induce Plaintiff's insurer, 23 Mercury, to do something; namely, pay the nuisance value of her claim.

24               Further, Plaintiff's claim fails at the fourth element because he did not allege that he 25 justifiably relied on Garcia's false representation. Instead, it is Mercury who relied on the 26 representation.

27               Lastly, Laszloffy has plausibly alleged the fifth element because he claims that Garcia's 28 misrepresentation led to an increase in his vehicle insurance premiums.

1 Still, without the third and fourth elements, Laszloffy has not alleged a plausible claim for 2 fraud.

3 This Court has previously analyzed this claim at ECF No. 27. The same deficiencies
4 pointed out before remain in Plaintiff's Third Amended Complaint. While Plaintiff will be 5 allowed to amend, it is not clear he will be able to overcome the problems previously noted.

6 2. Claim 2: Civil Conspiracy

7 Plaintiff alleges Defendants Symanki and Mercury conspired to slander him and commit 8 libel.

9 Actionable civil conspiracy arises where two or more persons undertake some concerted 10 action with the intent "to accomplish an unlawful objective for the purpose of harming another,"
11 and damage results. Consol. Generator-Nevada, Inc. v. Cummins Engine Co., 114 Nev. 1304,
12 1311, 971 P.2d 1251, 1256 (1998).

13 As explained above, Mercury cannot be a defendant under diversity jurisdiction in this 14 Court. This would leave only Defendant Symanski. Given two or more defendants are needed for 15 this claim, Plaintiff would not be able to assert a claim for relief.

16 3. Claim 3: Defamation; Claim 4: Libel

17 Plaintiff alleges Symanski wrote false and defamatory statements and faxed them to 18 Mercury. It appears that the statements involve Symanski telling Mercury that Plaintiff was 19 extorting Garcia.

20 A defamation claim requires demonstrating (1) a false and defamatory statement of fact by 21 the defendant concerning the plaintiff; (2) an unprivileged publication to a third person; (3) fault,
22 amounting to at least negligence; and (4) actual or presumed damages. Simpson v. Mars, Inc., 929
23 P.2d 966, 967 (1997).

24 In order to maintain a claim of libel, a plaintiff must show a false and defamatory
25 statement, its unprivileged publication, fault, and damages. Pegasus v. Reno Newspapers, Inc., 57
26 P.3d 82 (2002).

27 As explained above, Mercury cannot be a defendant under diversity jurisdiction in this 28 Court. This would leave only Defendant Symanski.

1           Here, Plaintiff seems to allege that Symanski made a false statement concerning Laszloffy
 2 when he sent a fax to Mercury Insurance stating that Plaintiff had attempted to extort Garcia.
 3 Therefore, the first elements as to both of these claims is met.

4           Next, Plaintiff also meets the second element as to both claims, as the allegation is that 5 this statement was made to a third party—Mercury.

6           As to the third element, this Court construes the allegations here as Symanski being at 7 least negligent in making that remark. Therefore, the third element is met as to both claims.

8           But it is not clear to this Court what damages Plaintiff suffered as a result of this 9 communication between Symanski and Mercury. As a result, should Plaintiff wish to amend, he 10 will need to explain what damages he has suffered.

11           4. Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress

12           To establish a cause of action for IIED, a plaintiff must allege the following: (1) extreme 13 and outrageous conduct with either the intention of, or reckless disregard for, causing emotional 14 distress; (2) extreme or severe emotional distress actually suffered by the plaintiff; and (3) actual 15 or approximate causation. Olivero v. Lowe, 995 P.2d 1023, 1025 (Nev. 2005).

16           As explained above, Mercury cannot be a defendant under diversity jurisdiction in this
 17 Court. This would only leave Defendant Symanski.

18           Plaintiff alleges that Symanski's faxed libelous and slanderous remarks about Plaintiff to 19 Mercury even after Plaintiff contacted Symanski where he refuted Garcia's allegations.

20           Plaintiff does not allege that Symanski's fax to Mercury was sent with the intent to cause
 21 emotional distress. Thus, the first element is not met.

22           Plaintiff alleges he suffered extreme or severe emotional distress, meeting the second 23 element.

24           Lastly, he meets the last element by alleging Symanksi's actions caused the distress.

25           There is no mention of what kind of participation Garcia could have had with regard to 26 this claim.

27           As a result, should Plaintiff wish to amend, he must cure the problems mentioned above.

28           //

1                   5. Claims 8 and 11: Concert of Action

2                 Plaintiff's eighth claim alleges that Garcia, Symanski, and ANLV Cab acted together in 3 bringing forward a false personal injury claim. In turn, this caused Plaintiff's insurance premiums
 4 to double. His eleventh claim alleges the same facts but names Garcia, Symanski, and Mercury as 5 Defendants.

6                 This Court already explained that Mercury cannot be a defendant in this case. As a result,
 7 the analysis below contemplates that the Defendants with regard to the eighth claim are Garcia,
 8 Symanski, and ANLV Cab, and that the Defendants as to the eleventh claim are Garcia and 9 Symanski.

10               To recover under a theory of concert of action, a plaintiff must show that the defendants 11 committed a tortious act or "agreed to conduct an inherently dangerous activity or an activity that 12 poses a substantial risk of harm to others." Abrams v. Sanson, 136 Nev. 83, 92, 458 P.3d 1062, 13 1070 (2020).

14               Plaintiff's allegations sufficiently state a claim for relief. This Court construes the 15 allegations to state that filing the alleged false claim had a substantial risk of economic harm to 16 Plaintiff. See Pickens on behalf of State v. La Villa Vegas, Inc., 485 P.3d 1248 (Nev. 2021)
 17 (evaluating concert of action claim as applied to a defamation and false light claims). Given that 18 the allegations in the eighth claim are identical to those in the eleventh claim, Plaintiff may want 19 to consider just bringing one claim instead of two if he opts to amend his complaint.

20                   6. Claim 9: Aiding and Abetting a Tort

21                 Plaintiff's allegations are conclusory. There are no facts supporting the allegation.

22                 As explained above, Mercury Insurance cannot be a defendant under diversity jurisdiction
 23 in this Court. That would leave only Defendants Garcia and Symanski.

24                 Liability attaches for civil aiding and abetting if the defendant substantially assists or 25 encourages another's conduct in breaching a duty to a third person. Dow Chem. Co. v. Mahlum,
 26 970 P.2d 98 (1998), abrogated on other grounds by GES, Inc. v. Corbitt, 117 Nev. 265, 21 P.3d 27 11 (2001).

1           Here, Plaintiff does not explain how Garcia and Symanski assisted or encouraged in the 2 breach of any duty to Plaintiff, nor does Plaintiff state which duty was breached.

3           7. Claims against Mercury Only

4           This Court explained that Mercury cannot be a defendant in this case without destroying 5 full diversity. As a result, this Court does not analyze the following claims as Mercury is the only 6 defendant and should not make part of the amended complaint:

7           Claim 6—Breach of Fiduciary Duty against Mercury

8           Claims 7 and 13—Negligence against Mercury.

9           Claim 10—Breach of the Implied Covenant of Good Faith and Fair Dealing against 10 Mercury.

11           Claim 12—Specific Performance against Mercury.

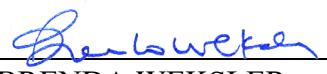

12           Claim 14—Breach of Contract against Mercury

13           III. Conclusion

14           IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Plaintiff's Third Amended Complaint (ECF No.
15 32) is DISMISSED with leave to amend. As explained above, Plaintiff may file an amended 16 complaint and establish full diversity by removing Mercury as a defendant from this lawsuit.

17           IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, should Plaintiff wish to amend his complaint, he 18 must do so by May 11, 2023, or this Court will recommend that his case be dismissed. If Plaintiff
19 chooses to file an amended complaint, he must write the words "Fourth Amended Complaint"
20 in the caption. The amended complaint will be screened in a separate Screening Order.
21 Additionally, the amended complaint must be a complete document in and of itself and will 22 supersede the prior complaints in their entirety. Any allegations, parties, or requests for 23 relief from prior papers that are not carried forward in the amended complaint will no
24 longer be before the Court.
